

ALDERMEN ADJUST ONE RENT DISPUTE

Rent Profiteering Hearings of City Fathers Produce Result in Case of Duffy vs. Bregman—Duffy Comes to Session With His Rent and Landlady Accepts It—Another Tenant Seeks Information.

There promised to be a lively tilt between Mrs. Adele Bregman, owner of the Federation House at No. 88 Hasbrouck avenue, and one of her tenants, Gus Duffy, at the second rent profiteering hearing held by the common council Thursday evening at the city hall, but after some hard words were exchanged between the pair they settled their differences. The landlady made the tenant happy by stating she would accept the old rental of $20 a month for his rooms and that she would not prosecute the dispossession proceedings she had started to obtain possession of his apartments. Another tenant with a grievance was Joe Sessler of No. 49 Chambers street, who sought information as to what protection he could receive from his landlord, Ike Farber, and was advised to take the matter up with Corporation Counsel W. N. Gill and City Judge Harry E. Schrick.

The Landlady's Side Heard.
In the absence of President Dittus, who arrived later, Alderman Ralph Mann of the Seventh ward, was elected as chairman of the meeting, and presided at the session. Acting President Mann called the attention of the large audience present to the fact that the council was ready to receive any complaints.

Mrs. Adele Bregman, owner of the Federation House at No. 88 Hasbrouck avenue, who was accused of rent profiteering by one of her tenants, Gus Duffy, at the first hearing held Tuesday, was given the privilege of the floor and informed that she would be given ten minutes to explain her case.

Talked for Fifteen Minutes.
Mrs. Bregman had no trouble in talking for ten minutes and before she finished had talked for fifteen minutes. She told of her efforts to place the Federation House in condition suitable for tenants and also of her troubles with the Duffys. She claimed that Gus's brother, Joe, came home one night drunk, and tried to gain admittance and she had to go out in the yard and assist him into the house.

Taxes and Water Rents.
She said that she had to pay $150 in taxes and $60 for water rents. To raise this money she had to obtain her rents, and demanded to know why the aldermen had said to Duffy that he did not have to pay rent. If the tenant did not have to pay rent, how was the property owner going to pay taxes.

"Mr. Duffy told me tonight he would not pay the rent," said she. "I object to that," shouted Mr. Duffy, who was present at the hearing.

President Mann rapped for order, and Mrs. Bregman continued stating she had been a property owner for twelve years. "I am a citizen and during the war I bought Liberty Bonds and stamps and helped in every way I could. How many of those present have any Liberty Bonds?"

She said that tenants seemed to have enough money to trot off to shows and movies but when the first of the month rolled around when the landlord went to collect the rent he found the doors locked and "nobody home."

Troubles on Abel Street.
It developed that she also bought some property on Abel street which she was renting, and she told of her troubles with the tenants there. She claimed that she had spent considerable money in fixing up her properties.

She said that she did not believe that she was overcharging when the rent for the Federation House apartments was only $20 a month. She said that she had told Duffy that the rent in the summer time would be $20 a month but that she would furnish the heat in the winter and the rent then would be $25 a month.

TO IMPORT COAL FOR U.S. INDUSTRY

Priority Orders Also Planned For New England And Northwest May Take On War-Time Aspect Soon—Business Fine Where Coal Can Be Had.

Washington, July 21.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today rushed its plans to establish priority orders to insure fuel shipments to the Far Northwest and to other parts of the country in greatest need of coal. The commission's plans are so far-reaching, they may take on the same aspect as war-time preparations.

The government has not yet reached the point of adopting a system of rationing coal among consumers. A scheme for equitable distribution, through railroad priorities, officials said, probably will care for the needs of the country for the time being. Officials, however, are now convinced there will be a coal shortage next winter whatever the outcome of the coal strike.

The situation may be relieved pending resumption of production in the mines, by import coal from Canada and England. Officials of the commerce department said today that within a few days, more than 1,000,000 tons of American and foreign shipping will be engaged for the transport of foreign coal.

Foreign coal to supplement reserve stocks may prevent serious industrial closings in New England, according to Secretary of Commerce Hoover. If it is found that coal imported is insufficient to meet New England's actual needs, the Interstate Commerce Commission will issue priority orders to care for the needs of the New England states, officials said.

To prevent suffering in the Northwest, official estimates were that at least 10,000,000 tons of bituminous coal must move through the Great Lakes gateways in the next three months.

"The fuel shortage, together with the realization that even after mining has begun, it will be some time before an even distribution can be established, has had a deterring influence on industry," the department said.

"If a satisfactory settlement of the present labor difficulties can be reached in the near future, there is every reason to believe business will continue on its present level, or even increase."

TROOPS GUARD CADIZ, O., MINES

Steps Taken to Prevent Another Massacre as Strikers Mass Around Strip Mine Workings.

Cadiz, O., July 21.—Ohio National Guardsmen are expected here some time this morning to guard stripping mines operated near here, where non-union men are employed.

Sheriff O. H. Martin, declaring his small force of deputies are entirely unable to cope with the situation, late yesterday appealed to Governor Davis at Columbus for protection.

It was said at the sheriff's office today that a large force of men, presumably union miners, were massing near the mines and trouble was feared.

Columbus, O., July 21.—Officials at the office of Adjutant General Florence this morning were awaiting word announcing the arrival of Cadiz, Harrison county, of 250 officers and men of the Ohio National Guard.

The militiamen were called out by Governor Davis who was told by Harrison county officials of reports that several hundred union coal miners were assembling for the purpose of marching en masse to coal stripping mines to compel the workers to quit mining.

President Calls Board Chairman to Capital

Cabinet Discussion Results in Telephone Summons to Hooper to Come for Conference—Situation Regarded as More Serious.

Washington, July 21.—President Harding today telephoned a summons to Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the Railway Labor Board at Chicago, to come to Washington at once for a conference on the increasingly serious railroad strike situation.

This step on the president's part was decided upon at a lengthy cabinet meeting which was devoted entirely to discussion of the industrial situation.

Reports of curtailed train operations, slowing down of industry and troop movements in many parts of the country, were brought to the White House by the cabinet members.

Although the two strikes are recognized as separate problems and are being dealt with accordingly, it is nevertheless realized that for all practical purposes, they are interdependent on each other and both must be settled quickly if the country is to escape what is gloomily predicted as "the worst winter in years."

"Without coal, trains can't run and without trains, the coal can't move," remarked one member of the cabinet. "To remedy one, we'll have to remedy the other, or we're just as badly off as ever."

It is the rail strike, however, that is causing the president and his advisers the most immediate concern. Serious as the coal strike is, the administration feels that temporarily at least, the governors of the coal-producing states, and there is little doubt that the federal government can do without the coal, and see if the operators can make good on their promise to produce coal if furnished protection for the diggers.

No definite time has been set for the troop experiment. It was stated emphatically, however, in cabinet quarters today that if at the end of two weeks there has not been coal enough mined to piece out the now dwindling supply and if there are not good prospects ahead, President Harding will resort to other means. In this contingency, two courses appear open:

1.—An appeal to the operators themselves to grant the miners' demands until the coal commission, which the president intends to appoint, can get going and produce something of a permanent character.

2.—Government seizure of the non-producing mines on the assurance that miners will work for the government on the scale that existed prior to the strike.

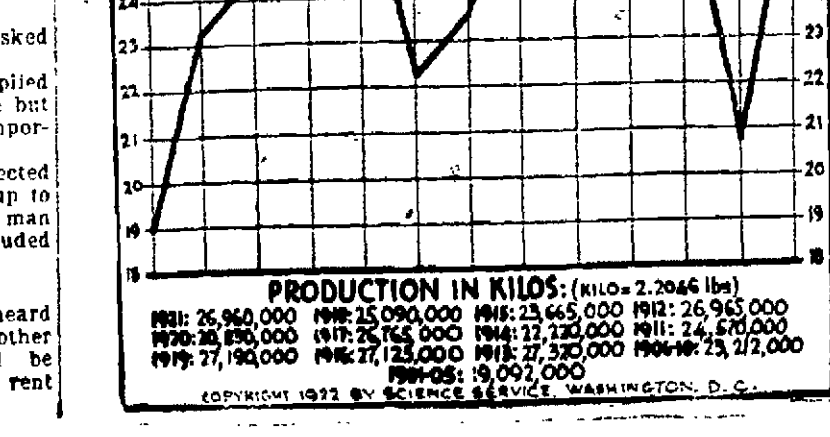

Among a growing number of government officials, there is the conviction that in the long run the government will be forced to take over the mines on some basis.

The next two weeks will be the test, it was declared. By this time, if the experiment fails, the coal reserves of the country will be so depleted as to compel government seizure, one cabinet officer predicted.

Tremendous pressure is being brought to bear upon the big eastern railroads, notably the Pennsylvania, New York Central and Erie lines, to persuade them to fall in line with the northwestern and southern lines in agreeing to restore seniority rights to the workers.

According to advices to government officials, peace was actually in sight at Chicago when the big eastern roads kicked over the traces.

Band Rehearsal.
A rehearsal of the members of the Citizens' Band will be held at the Elks' Club, Fair street, Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

CHILE-PERU BOUNDARY DISPUTE IS SETTLED AT WASHINGTON

Signing of Protocol Declared by Hughes as Greatest Step in Interest of Peace on This Hemisphere in Generation.

Washington, July 21.—The protocol signed today at the final session of the Tacna-Arica conference, was declared by Secretary of State Hughes to be "the greatest forward step in the interest of peace on this hemisphere which this generation has witnessed."

Addressing the Chilean and Peruvian delegates to the conference and a distinguished diplomatic gathering in the Hall of the Americas of the Pan-American Union, Hughes said:

"I believe this to be the dawn of a new day in Latin-America. It points to a new era of peace and prosperity, in which friendship may be cultivated and mutual interests and opportunities for co-operation may be safeguarded."

The delegates who came to Washington at the invitation of President Harding three months ago, had just affixed their signatures to the agreement ending the long-standing boundary dispute between Chile and Peru.

"Once more under this hospitable roof success has attended direct negotiations in conference," said Secretary Hughes, alluding to the fact that many important sessions of the armament conference were held in same building.

"It is indication of the processes of peace," said the secretary. "It is easy to talk of the prevention of war, but inevitably there will be differences and serious controversies and, if these are not to be settled by force, there must be peaceful solutions which can be had only through the efforts of governments which determinedly seek peace and make it possible by providing for the contacts of honorable and reasonable men whose ability, ingenuity and wisdom will be utilized not to devise grounds for continuing differences, but practical bases of agreement."

He declared that the amicable adjustment reached was "the healing which gives promise of better relations throughout Latin-America and of the promotion of the growth of sound opinion."

UNIONTOWN MINE GUARDS FIGHT WITH STRIKERS

Deputy Sheriff's Home is Reduced to Ashes.

Uniontown, Pa., July 21.—Mine guards and strikers concealed on the hillside, fought a battle at the Deam mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company near here today. State police later said they believed the mine guards had prevented an attempt to blow up the plant. Nobody was hurt in the fighting.

At the Lemont mine of the same company, a bomb was hurled at the tipple but it failed of its mark.

The home of Deputy Sheriff Lindsay Miller, a guard at the Reverse mine of the W. J. Rainey Coke Company, was burned with all its contents early today.

PIRATES HOLD UP VESSEL, SHOOT CAPTAIN

Miami, Fla., July 21.—Coast guards were searching today for motor boat pirates who late yesterday held up the converted auxiliary schooner William H. Albury, shot her master, Captain Edgemoore, dead, and then fled. The motor boat containing the pirates was said to have borne the name Falcon.

The Albury, according to harbor authorities, has been engaged in running liquor between Florida Keys and the British Bahamas.

The holdup was said to have taken place off Gun Key near this port.

FRENCH PRESS DEMANDS SHORT MORATORIUM PERIOD

Paris, July 21.—A demand that the Inter-Ally Reparations Commission formally accuse Germany of wilfully defaulting on indemnity payments, was made by French newspapers today.

Two other French demands are: 1. That the Allies seize all the state-owned mines and forests in Germany; 2. That the moratorium be limited to six weeks, instead of two years as requested by the German government.

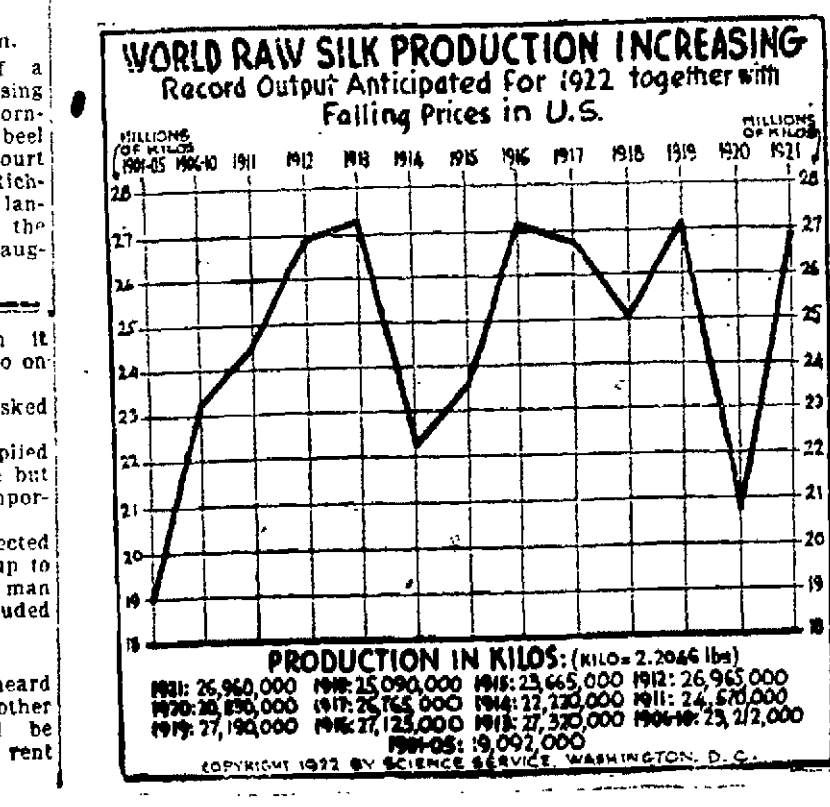

ITALY WITHOUT CABINET FASCISTI COUP FEARED

Rome, July 21.—A coup by the Fascisti (extreme Nationalists) to take over control of the Italian nation, was feared in some quarters today. Socialists and Communists charge that the Fascisti seek to seize the government.

Pittsburgh District Operators Prepare to Resume Coal Production Next Week Under Protection of State Troops—Must First Evict Unionists in Many Cases.

Pittsburgh, July 21.—Western Pennsylvania coal operators, independent and associated, today grimly set about to reopen their bituminous mines and produce coal. Plans for starting the various operations were developed in secret because of fear of possible trouble if the plans were prematurely made public.

From one end of the state to the other, every armory was bristling with excitement and activity. Troops were either leaving or preparing to leave immediately for the coal region within a radius of 150 miles of Pittsburgh. Some troops were already on their way this morning. By tomorrow night the major part of the 28th Division will be under arms. A part of it immediately will be sent to the western counties and the balance will start for camp and be held in reserve there.

Coal will not be dug before the middle of next week at the earliest. Mines that have been idle three months or more must be cleared of debris and put into shape.

The United Mine Workers, with their headquarters in Pittsburgh, are watchfully awaiting developments. Leaders say that when non-union diggers go into the mines, the pumpers and other help left behind to protect the workings from flooding and explosions, will be called out at once.

One of the first moves toward the reopening of the mines, is the announcement by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, largest bituminous operator in the country, that it will immediately begin evicting 400 non-union families at Montour mine, No. 4, Hill Station, Washington county. It is expected that the same company will follow a similar course at its eighty other mines. The evictions at the Montour mine will make 1,000 persons homeless.

Philadelphia, July 21.—The 108th Field Artillery, Pennsylvania National Guard, left for Tobyhanna this morning, where they will be held in readiness for strike duty while engaging in regular summer drill practice. Tomorrow the 11th Infantry, the 103rd Cavalry, the 56th Infantry Brigade, Headquarters troops, and 52nd Cavalry Brigade Headquarters troop, will leave for Mt. Gretna.

All the guardsmen are carrying full equipment to enable them to be ready for instant action should a change of orders divert them to the coal regions.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 21.—Eleven hundred Pennsylvania state guardsmen, including the crack 104th Cavalry, the 52nd Machine Gun Squadron, and a motor transport company, are headed for western Pennsylvania today, where they will go into active service to assist in maintaining order during an attempt to reopen the bituminous coal mines. Special trains carrying the horses of the cavalry were loaded at Mount Gretna last night and another special train bearing supplies and four companies of the regiment, was loaded here today.

TWO MORE PENNSYLVANIA TROOP UNITS ON MOVE

Punxsutawney, Pa., July 21.—Troop F, 104th Cavalry, National Guard, left Punxsutawney early today for an undisclosed destination, unofficially reported to be Cokeville, Westmoreland county. The quick mobilization of the troop last night hit the business section hard. In one case five department heads in one store, had to go with their commands.

New Castle, Pa., July 21.—Troop A, 104th Cavalry, National Guard, left here this morning under sealed orders. Their destination was reported to be Ebensburg, Cambria county.

Strike Vote in Pittsburgh.

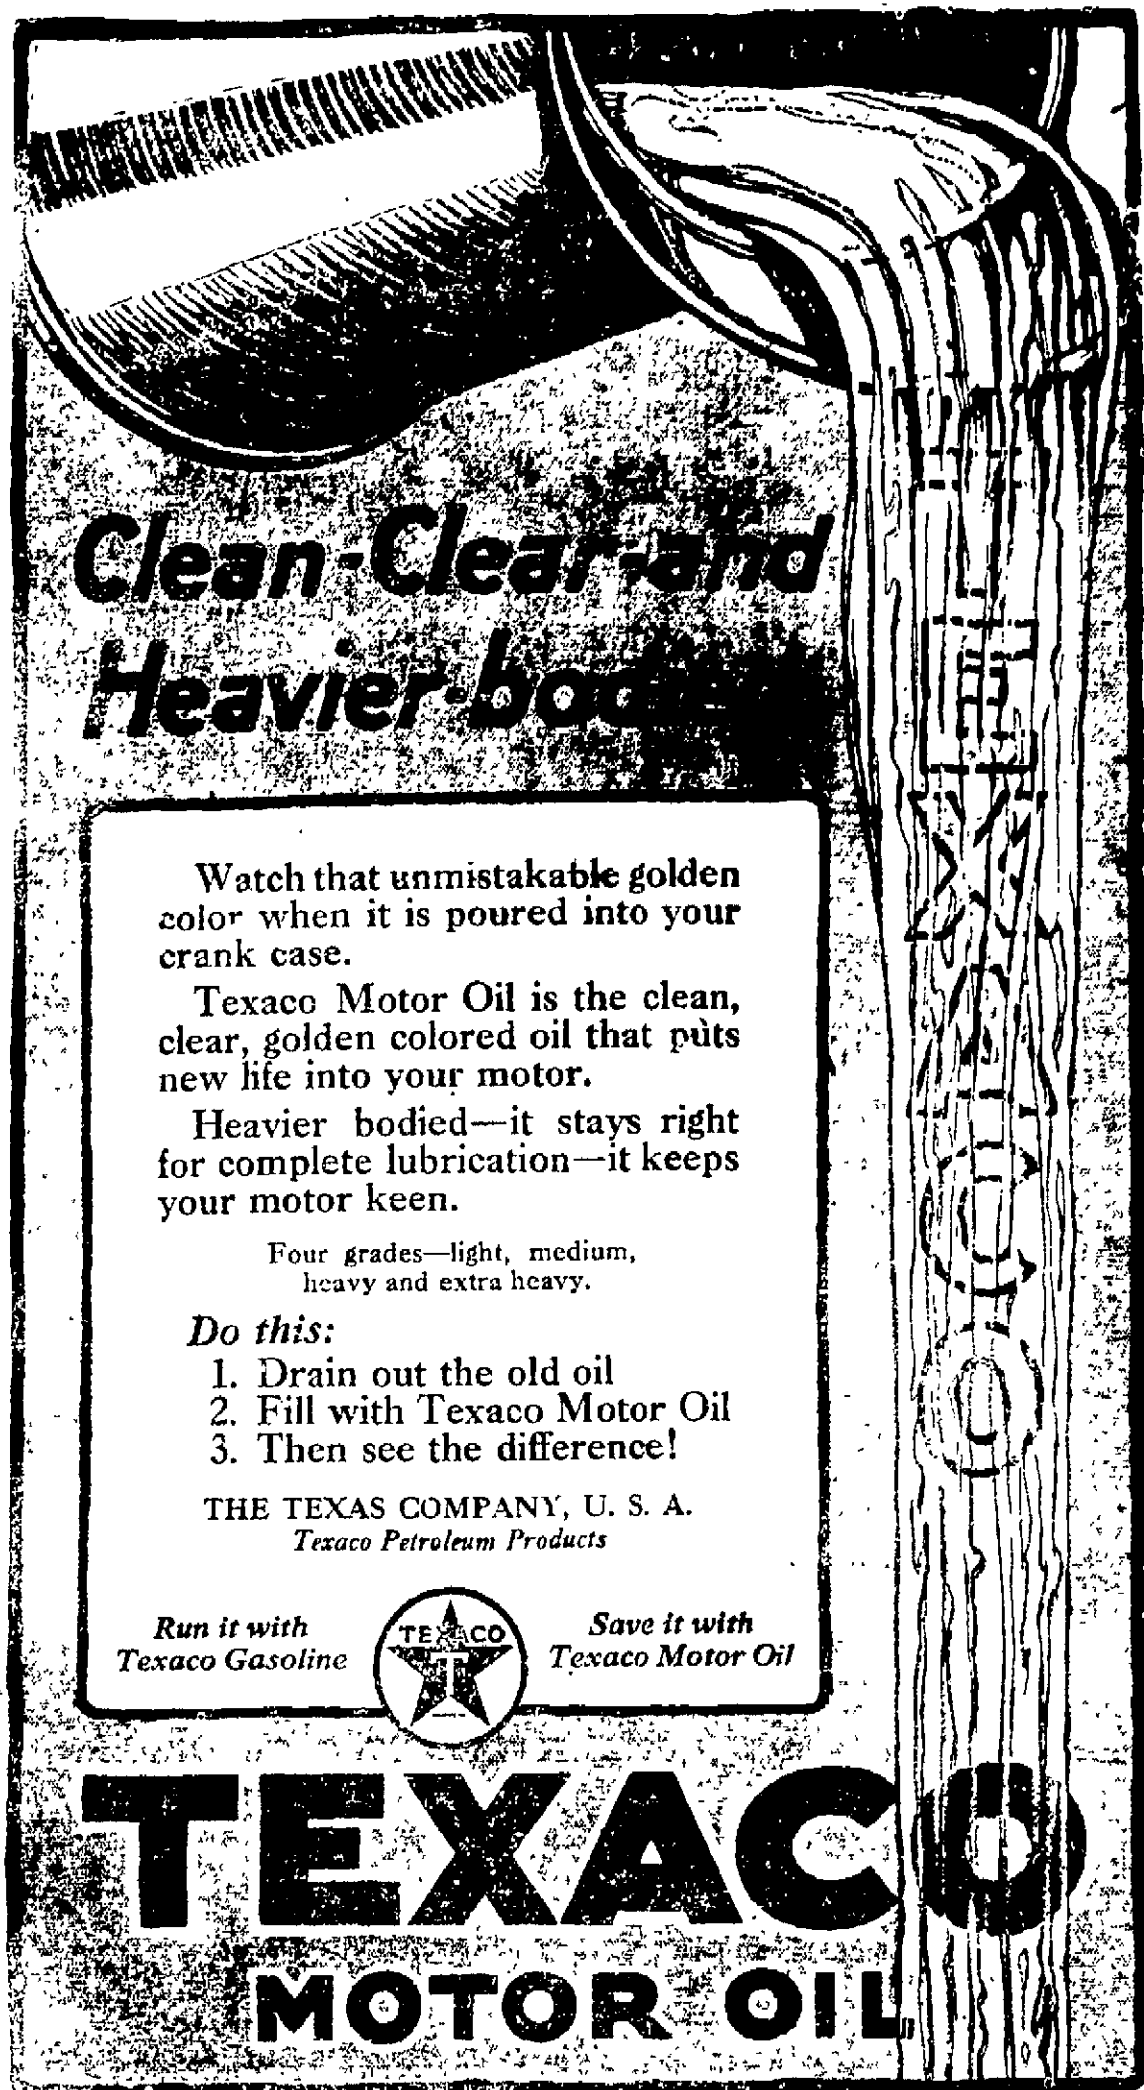

Pittsburgh, July 21.—A strike vote will be taken here tonight by representatives of 2,000 men and women members of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Freight Handlers and Station Agents, employed by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, an important unit of the New York Central system. The whole road will be affected if the workers go out. It was reported here that other New York Central units are taking a strike vote.

Irregulars Lose Watford.

Dublin, July 21.—(Passed by Military Censor.)—Republican irregulars have completely evacuated Watford and are retreating southward, abandoning large quantities of war materials on the way, it was announced today.

Auto Club Governors' Meeting.

The board of governors and the membership committee of the Ulster County Automobile Club will hold a meeting this evening at 8 o'clock at the court house.

BELIEVES IN SCOUTING

Governor W. H. McMaster, who was one of the thirty or more gubernatorial heads who became officially tenderfoot scouts during the twelfth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, is a staunch believer in scouting, particularly in the scout oath and law, and even more particularly in the good turn. "There is no investment a boy can make," he told the scouts on the occasion of his investiture, "that is so sure of winning a quick return as kindness," and he went on to suggest that the person most deserving of all of a scout's thoughtfulness and devotion is "mother." He advised every boy to go home and kiss his mother, and to follow up the kiss by doing everything, big or little, that would help her or save her in any way from worry.

IN AN ORPHANAGE

Troop 26 of the Pacific Hebrew orphanage in San Francisco has won a high place under the enthusiastic leadership of Julius I. Kahn. In spite of the fact that the freedom of these boys is somewhat curtailed by the conditions of institutional life, they manage to get in some hiking and camping and are splendid "good turners." Scout Harry Pepper was voted the troop winner in a good turn contest for the year 1921. The act which won him this honor by vote of the troop is as follows: The boys were expected to clean up a hall which had been left littered and disorderly after an entertainment. What was their surprise, therefore, the next morning to find the hall as clean as if the brownies had been at work all night. But Harry Pepper was the brownie. He had spent his good hour working while the others slept.

MEDALS ASKED FOR LIVE SAVER

Application has been made to the national court of honor for a life-saving medal to be awarded to Eugene McGlone, a student of Centenary college at Shreveport, La., who saved the life of Sam Brand at the risk of his own in February last. The two boys were on a raft which broke, letting them down into the water. McGlone could swim, but Brand could not. McGlone pushed a log to his friend and towed him to shore.

Lovely Lonely Island.

Christmas Island, in the Indian ocean, is one of the several bits of land that lonely voyagers have come upon in the holiday season and have named accordingly. The island has been described by travelers, says a National Geographic society bulletin, as at once one of the loneliest and loveliest spots in the world. And its possession of tree-climbing crabs and a super-scented tree gives it a right to be classed as one of the queerest. The island, 12 miles long by nine miles broad, is in reality made up of the slopes and top of a huge mountain peak. Soundings show that if the waters of the ocean were drained away a rough pyramid 15,000 feet high would stand alone in a plain, the present island forming the last 1,000 feet of its slope.

THE SPIRIT OF TRUE SPORT

There is a certain gallantry that goes with French sport which is lacking in American—it is to judge by the Dempsey-Carpenter and Lenglen-Mallory contests. But happily we are not compelled to judge by these alone. All the finest instincts of American sportsmen responded to the bearing and character of Carpenter, and many of us were actually sorry when he was beaten by our heavier and coarser-fibred Dempsey, the more so because he took his defeat like a gentleman. In the Lenglen-Mallory affair there was not the same advance prejudice due to personality. We were all ready and willing for the best player to win. But after the French girl won, fairly and completely, many of us were glad that she did. Why? Because the American (Swedish-American) contestant did not take her defeat like a "gentleman."

Forgetting the rules of polite sport, Mrs. Mallory ungraciously attempted to explain her defeat away, actually saying that she was not beaten but beat herself. One American critic, referring to the irrelevance of Mrs. Mallory's protest against starting the game after delay, and when light was poor, pointedly says: "Conditions were alike for both contestants, in the eyes of the spectators, and before the start it must have seemed likely that they would be more disadvantageous to the French girl than to the American with her supposedly sturdier nerves. And it is really pathetic that Mrs. Mallory should have said that she beat herself by playing far below her best form. The first of these statements, whether true or not, is ungenerous, and, as a matter of obvious fact, Mrs. Mallory did not beat herself; she was beaten, fairly and thoroughly, by the rival she was so anxious to meet. Miss Lenglen met, fearlessly and gallantly, one whom she new to be a redoubtable adversary."

THE POPE'S COOK.

Pope Pius XI has dismissed a cook long in his employ, and with good reason. According to Italian cable dispatches the Pope was in the habit of paying for each meal as it was served, just as one does a restaurant. Recently he was charged 20 lire for a chicken served on his table, and, as he ate "only one-half" of the fowl, he (thriftily) ordered that the other half be served as chicken croquettes at the next meal. This was done, but the next bill charged another 20 lire for the croquettes made out of the half of a chicken for which 20 lire had already been paid, and, losing patience, as well he might, the Pope dismissed the grasping cook.

Popes and kings can administer wholesome reprimand of this sort without fear, being assured that other cooks, read, and glad to save them, are easily within reach. But the enjoyment of such independence is denied the most of us in these times, we know that we must either meekly endure everything or incur the risk of being careless and of sighing for washdishes and the like in vain. And such hazards are likely to become more serious as time goes on. Statistics indicate that in America domestic servants are steadily passing from the kitchen or the wash-tub to the factory, the office, the department store, and perhaps in no few instances even into politics. Between 1911 and 1920 cooks decreased in number 21.5 per cent; chambermaids, 26 per cent; maids of all work, 20.5 per cent; home laundry-workers, 25.7 per cent; home dressmakers, etc., 47.5 per cent.

LLOYD GEORGE ON JOHN WESLEY.

John Wesley, famous religious reformer of the eighteenth century, went with Oglethorpe from London to Georgia, where he not only preached and founded the first Sunday school in America but, according to the International Encyclopedia, fell in love with the daughter of "the chief magistrate" of Savannah, whom he wished to marry, but on the advice of church elders "withdrew from her," and she very soon marrying another, he "refused her admission to the communion," which led to an action at law and Wesley's return to England. John Wesley's American visit is now recalled by the recent restoration of his grave in London, the proposition to make his chapel there "a center for world-wide Methodism, and Lloyd George's characterization of him as "the greatest religious leader the Anglo-Saxon race ever produced." Speaking further of the religious revival led by John Wesley, Lloyd George said:

"I have been a closer student of this movement in Wales than in England. I know the change it effected. It civilized the country. The people were completely changed, their habits, demeanor, interests and culture. There was a complete revolution effected in the whole country, and the effects of it are felt to this very hour. I should like to say a word upon the influence it had in the realm of government. It was incalculable. The movement was at first among the working classes and the lower middle class, but it gradually, as the tide rose, swept over the whole land. It had a great influence during the period of the French Revolution. It had a great restraining influence which is felt to this day. The fact that progress was violent on the Continent whilst it was moderate, steady and calm on the whole in this country, is largely attributable to the religious revival of which John Wesley was the great propelling force."

Can You Answer These Questions.

1. Why is the cow-bird's egg always hatched out ahead of the real eggs in a stolen nest?

2. What can I feed a captive trout?

3. Can wild animals contract diseases from domesticated ones?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Are pearls found in the common fresh water mussel?

There are about 1,500 species of fresh water mussel, most of which are represented in the U. S., so we hardly know which to call "common." The species Margaritifera, found both in Europe and the U. S., produces valuable pearls in some cases with a permanent pink flush. As this question came from Mississippi, and the pearl-producing mussel is only found in the north, we doubt if our correspondent will find pearls in his neighborhood.

2. What does it mean in natural history books when animals are described as "herbivorous?"

The word refers to their teeth, which in mammals are usually of three different, hetero, kinds of patterns: incisors, the front chisel-like teeth for biting off canines or "eye" teeth, for hooking or seizing, and molars for crushing. Every mammal is not herbivorous, however, for porcupines for instance have teeth all on one pattern.

3. What is our handsomest bird?

We are afraid we should be in trouble if we tried to settle this. Our own taste leans toward the elegant cedarbird, but its smooth brownish-olive coat and black velvet topknot might seem tame to people who prefer the scarlet tanager or goldfinch. The male rose-breasted grosbeak is wonderfully handsome, and so is the indigo or the lazuli bunting. The woodcock is a beauty, and some sea gulls of a pair are lovely. If you asked us which is our handsomest bird, we think we should give the prize to the interesting road runner of the southwest.

MARKET GARDEN FAIR AT WOODSTOCK SATURDAY

The Market Garden Fair of the village of Woodstock held every Saturday morning in the village has been attracting considerable attention from residents of the village and neighboring places. Due to the early hour of the day many people could not reach the fair in time and expressed a desire to have the hours changed. The management has consented and the time will be from 3 to 6 o'clock each Saturday afternoon beginning this Saturday.

Inter-nationals regarding this fair can be had by getting in touch with Mrs. George A. Boggs, chairman, or Miss Marian Lewis, secretary and treasurer.

On Sunday the whole family in Costa Rica visits the nearest village to put in a gala day. Perhaps there is a religious festival in the morning; at any rate, there is a mass to be attended. Afternoon is given over to visits, which women and children usually make alone, while the man of the house hangs around the general store or post office, as the center of interest. If he is feeling "flush," he treats himself to a can of evaporated milk, a great luxury, which he drains off through a nail-hole, just as if it were champagne.

BROPHY EXPLAINS.

Score Misunderstood—Wants Another Game.

To the Editor of The Freeman

I wish to contradict the statement of Thomas Coughlin representing the Columbia A. C. in last night's edition. Mr. Coughlin stated that the third run was scored in the fourth inning. With two down Brophy beat out an infield hit, stole second on the first ball pitched to Nichols and scored on Nichols's hit to center. The 13 to 2 score was a misunderstanding on the part of the writer, the correct score being 3 to 2, favoring Regulars. As far as my pitching is concerned, I never rated myself as a pitcher, but I defy the Columbia to accept a challenge for a game to be placed at Hasbrouck Park two weeks from Thursday for their whole outfit if so desired. It took me five weeks to secure first game with Columbia's and did not receive a definite answer for a return game. MANAGER BROPHY.

The Belle of the Ball

Sally was a pretty girl but in spite of her curls and blue eyes, she was a wall flower at parties. When men were asked why they didn't dance with her they just said "She hasn't any pep."

Sally hated parties. She always felt as tired when she went to them as she did when she came home.

Then she went to visit her married sister, who gave her one look, and ordered a case of Utica Club Pilsener. She had Sally drink it regularly. Its vitamins and snappy flavor restored her appetite and nourished her run down system. She began to feel bright, happy.

The next party she went to she was as full of fun as the best. She looked so pretty and lively she was asked to dance every dance. She said she came home with the best looking man there. "Why I had a wonderful time."

Utica Club Pilsener is a potent tonic as well as a delightful beverage. Drink it at every meal. Order it by the case from your grocer or Krainer & Siegel, 70 Chambers Street, New York City. Distributors: Phone 1086 or 1105 R.

How to Make Raspberry Jam in 10 Minutes

By Ann Proctor

The finest raspberry jam you ever tasted—chock full of the natural color and flavor—can be made at home within ten minutes, after the berries are washed and crushed. I use the "Certo" Process because it takes only 1 minute's boiling, thus saving flavor and color; never fails; and is cheaper because I get 60 per cent more jam from the same amount of berries.

To make ten half-pound glasses of Raspberry Jam:

Crush well about 2 quarts of ripe berries, using wooden masher. Add juice of 1 lemon. Measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) crushed berries including lemon juice, into large kettle.

Add 7 1/2 leveled cups (3 3/4 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Stir hard and constantly and bring to a vigorous boil over the hottest fire. Boil hard for one full minute with continual stirring. Remove from fire and add 1/2 bottle (scant half cup) Certo, stirring it in well. From the time jam is taken off fire let stand 5 minutes only by the clock, before pouring. In the meantime skim. Then pour quickly.

Important. Best way to seal jams and jellies in open glasses. Cover while hot with thin coat hot paraffin. Next day add tablespoonful hot paraffin to seal cracks around edge formed by shrinkage on cooling.

By this short "Certo Process" you save all the color and flavor that is boiled away by the old method. Time and work are saved and you have 5 lbs. of jam from 2 lbs. of berries as against 1 lb. by the old method.

The above recipe and many others for making delicious jellies and jams by the "Certo Process" is found in the Certo Book of Recipes, a copy of which will be given to you by your grocer where you get Certo. Extra copies will be sent free if you write to the Pectin Sales Company, Rochester, N. Y.

Use Certo this year in making all your jams and jellies. It saves time, worry and boiling. The "Certo Process" never fails and saves money, because you make half as much more jam from the same amount of fruit. It is endorsed by national authorities and cooking experts. Jelly and jams made with Certo keep splendidly.

If your grocer or druggist does not have Certo, please telephone Miss Jones, at number 1875 to learn where to obtain it.

Nelson's Dying Request Unheeded.

"Take care of my poor Lady Hamilton," gasped Lord Nelson dying. "Remember, I leave her and my daughter to my country." On the eve of the Battle of Trafalgar he wrote a last paragraph in his diary, recounting her services to England, and begging the nation's generosity to the woman of his heart. England, cold to his plea, paid no attention to the dying request of the hero of Trafalgar. An earldom, a great estate, and an hereditary annuity of $25,000 were given to a brother he disliked. Lady Hamilton, responsible for Nelson's going to sea after retirement, and winning, in 1803, a victory over the Franco-Spanish fleets that destroyed forever Napoleon's naval power, died ten years later in disgrace and poverty. Yet, "Did I not share in his glory? Even the last fatal victory; it was I who led him forth. Did he not call me brave Emma, and said, 'If there were more Emmas, there would be more Nelsons.'"

MYSTERIOUS BURGLARY ON HASBROUCK AVENUE

Police Investigating Theft of Jewelry at Lankisky's.

Louis Lankisky of No. 149 Hasbrouck avenue, reported to the police Thursday that some one had stolen two rings and other jewelry from a bureau drawer in a bedroom at his home on Wednesday. With the jewelry was a sum of money, which was untouched.

The police are making an investigation of the burglary which they say has several mysterious features. One of the rings had a cluster of diamonds and the other contained a diamond of 1 1/2 carats.

Sanford C. Myers of Elm street Saugerties, a carpenter at work on James C. Young's house at the junction of the Malden and Catskill roads, fell from the house, suffering a severe fracture of the wrist. Dr. Luther Emerick reduced the fracture.

Flanagan Is Hirsch Receiver.

Chris J. Flanagan of this city was appointed receiver of Judah Hirsch, in United States District Court, New York city, on Thursday. Mr. Hirsch conducted the Broadway Sample Shop, Nos. 535-537 Broadway, corner Cedar street. The bond was fixed at $400.

A River of Mystery.

From its source to its mouth the Colorado river drops almost two miles. At some points along its course, particularly in the Grand Canyon, it has cut its channel more than one mile below the level of the surrounding plateau. The Colorado is the least-known stream in the western hemisphere. It is the tomb of civilizations that flourished in ages past. The stark cliffs, chiseled by the river, are furrowed with the deserted dwellings of peoples of mystery. Centuries ago these early races constructed irrigation systems which are still visible in part and which command the respect of engineers even today.

MUST LEAVE CITY OR GO TO JAIL

Hicks Found Guilty of Assaulting William Wolfenheimer—Is Fined $15 and Jail Sentence Suspended Provided He Keeps Away from Kingston.

After a lengthy trial before Judge Robert G. Groves in police court on Thursday, James Hicks of Hudson street was found guilty of assaulting William Wolfenheimer, a neighbor, and was fined $15 and sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. Judge Groves, however, suspended the operation of the jail sentence provided that Hicks dispose of his property in Kingston and reside outside the city limits.

Owing to the fact that Judge Schirmer was disqualified to preside because one of the interested parties in the trial was a client, Judge Groves was called to sit in the case. The trial had a number of interesting features and took up the greater part of the day.

While Mrs. Wolfenheimer, wife of the complainant, was on the witness stand she became hysterical and was removed from the court room and placed in the outer corridor of the city hall. Dr. Stern and Dr. Quinlan attended her and she was taken home by a taxi.

The assault of which Hicks was found guilty occurred on Hudson street in front of Hicks's house. According to Wolfenheimer Hicks came up and struck him without provocation which was denied by Hicks.

Hicks has been in trouble a number of times, and his face is familiar in the court.

Alexander's Lucky Stone.

The wearing of a watch charm is said to have originated with the girdle stone, an ornament worn by many distinguished persons of antiquity. The girdle stone of Alexander the Great was reputed to be his victory stone and was worn through all his campaigns in the East. He lost it on his way home. When he stopped to bathe in the River Apprantes he laid his girdle on the bank. A great serpent came up in his spot, which was near the original garden of Eden, bit the stone off its setting and dropped it into the river. The stone was not recovered. The stone described as a great "prize." This according to the customary language of the Dark Ages, means a green stone. But whether the green stone was an emerald or a jade is not certain. It may even have been just a piece of chrysoprase, green in color. Alexander thought the jewel brought him good luck. Certainly he had poor luck after its loss.

Splendid Gem Collection.

The National museum's collection of precious stones had its origin in 1894, when an exhibit of American precious stones was prepared for the New Orleans exposition. In 1891 the greater part of the collection of Dr. Joseph Alder was purchased by the museum. In 1894 Mrs. Frances Lea Chamberlain bequeathed to the museum a collection of precious stones assembled by her father, Dr. Isaac Lea. Her husband, Dr. L. T. Chamberlain, added a large number of specimens, and on his death bequeathed a sum of money, the income of which is to be used for the further increase. Individual gifts and transfers from the geological survey have further augmented the material, and it is hoped that through individual action the collection may be expanded and diversified until it is second to none.

Conversation.

One reason why we meet with so many people who are reasonable and agreeable in conversation is, that there is scarcely anybody who does not think more of what he has to say than of answering what is said to him. Even those who have the most address and politeness think they do enough if they only seem to be attentive; at the same time, their eyes and their minds betray a distraction as to what is addressed to them, and an impatience to turn to what they themselves were saying; not reflecting that to be thus sidious of pleasing themselves is but poor way of pleasing or convincing others; and that, to hear patiently, and answer precisely, are the great refinements of conversation.—Rochester.

Horsepower of Human Voice.

It was discovered some years ago by a French investigator, who published the results of his experiments in the Journal de Physique that the average male, speaking for one hour, expends sufficient energy to enable him in another sphere of work, to lift two-pound weight 40 inches from the ground every minute. But that only one-fifth of the energy wasted in a typical tub-thumping open-air speaker, who might as easily be lifting coal from the floor to his shoulder. The female voice, however, is quite a different caliber, for its mechanism requires so little horsepower to operate that a woman can, as asserted, talk four times as long and four times as easily as a man at the same expenditure of energy.

Smallpox Vanishing.

Less than two centuries ago smallpox was more prevalent than is measles today. In Europe those who escaped it were a minority. George Washington caught it when seventeen years old, in Barbadoes, and bore the brunt of it through life. Of all the epidemic diseases, smallpox was the most terrible enemy of mankind. It is now regarded as one of the most remarkable of human eliminations. Vaccination, suggested by the practice of isolating persons, has wiped it out so thoroughly in this country that since 1804 (according to a newly published statement of the public health service), deaths from smallpox have been less than one in 100,000 of our population.

MUD VOLCANOS NEAR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Bulletin Issued by National Geographic Society Explains Just What They Are.

Recent eruption of mud volcanoes in the edge of Mexico near the southern California line as reported from El Centro, California, has introduced these "little brothers of Vesuvius" to some persons for the first time, and may have left the impression that this portion of the country is subject to major volcanic outbreaks. A bulletin issued from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society explains just what mud volcanoes are and tells something of their wide distribution around the world.

"The term 'volcano' is in a way a misnomer for these little mounds of boiling mud—a fact that is recognized sometimes by calling them 'mud geysers,'" says the bulletin. "Most of them, in the matter of size, bear to true volcanoes the relation of the proverbial molehill to the mountain. And while 'volcano,' with the picture that it brings up of demolished and buried cities, naturally inspires something of awe, 'mud volcanoes,' when they are not mildly interesting natural phenomena, are little more than nuisances."

"Like geysers, mud volcanoes are usually found in regions that have been subject to true volcanic action within recent geologic times. But this is not always true; and 'recent' in this sense may mean many thousands of years. In the case of geysers, water gathers in fissures, a portion of whose walls are hot, steam forms after a time and the column of water is expelled. In the case of mud volcanoes, a much smaller quantity of water is involved. It is usually turned completely into steam which forces its way through fine material and forms hot mud. In typical mud volcanoes, the soft mud is forced out with little violence through the top of a small mound and flows down over the sides. Occasionally, however, a heavy column of mud traps the steam for a considerable period, which is ended by a geyser-like eruption that may throw the soft material and chunks of the hardened cone high in the air."

"Mud volcanoes are much more common than geysers. The only places in which geysers exist in appreciable numbers are the Yellowstone National Park—the largest and most important geyser region in the world—Iceland, the Malay archipelago, and the North Island of New Zealand. But mud volcanoes are scattered around the world. To the eastward they are first encountered in Iceland. In Europe they are found in Sicily, the mainland of Italy and the Russian Crimea; in Asia they occur at Baku, on islands in the Bay of Bengal and on the Malay Archipelago; farther East they are found in New Zealand. In the Western Hemisphere they are found in Colombia, in the Yellowstone Park, just south of the Mexican-California line in the delta of the Colorado river, and a few miles to the north of the eastern shore of the Salton sea, in the Imperial valley."

REAL SOURCE OF MOST OF THE "LIKKEK" JOKES

LOSES $4,000—GEMS IN SHOE

Jewels Disappear When Shoes Are Taken to Repair Shop.

When Dr. Gustave P. Hoffman of 14 Kingman road, South Orange, N. J., remarked casually to his wife that he had taken a pair of old shoes to the repair shop, both he and his wife received the shock of their lives.

Mrs. Hoffman—as soon as she was able—told him that the day before she had put her entire collection of gems, diamonds worth $4,000, in the toe of one of the shoes. Both Doctor Hoffman and his wife hurried out to the repair shop. Anthony Palermo, proprietor, said nothing had been found in the shoes. The police are investigating.

"OLD TIMERS" IN PEEKSKILL

Veterans of Hudson River League of Old Days Played Thursday But Met Defeat by Score of 6 to 2. Art Rice on Hand for Reunion.

The "old timers" of the Hudson River League met the host in the Peekskill city twilight league in Peekskill Thursday afternoon and went down to defeat by a score of 6 to 2. Art Rice, who played with the old Kingston team, was one of the "old timers" on hand for the game, but as he had injured his ankle in the game with the Colonials here Wednesday he was not able to do any playing in the game, but went in as a pinch hitter in the ninth frame.

The "old timers" all of whom will be remembered by Kingston fans, were: Cracker Holden and Ed. Connors, pitchers; Elmer Steele, first base; Mike Giesler and Peter Cragan, second base; Sandusky, shortstop; Mike Brophy, third base; Cy Connors, right field; Rube DeGoff, left field; and McCarthy, center field.

After the game the veterans and the players in the Twilight League were the guests of the league at dinner.

NARROW ESCAPE AT DANGEROUS SWIMMING BEACH

Wednesday afternoon at the West End Swimming Beach at Ellenville, there was another close call to drowning when Thomas Namack attempted to rescue a girl going down for the second time. On reaching the drowning girl she hung to his neck, preventing him from making any progress and pulling him down with her. A number of people were fortunately on the dock and they jumped into the water fully dressed, formed a chain and with the aid of an umbrella succeeded in pulling the pair out. Following the rescue the party was pretty much exhausted, and the girl was unconscious.

Last week a young man was drowned at this spot.

Demonstration, Fitting Animals for Exhibits E. J. Cooper

W. J. Wright, state leader of junior agricultural extension work, opened the program with an informal discussion of the coming state fair, telling of the changes in plans for this season. There has been an increase in the amount of money which will be available for the decorating of booths, etc.

This year one big change is that the counties will not have to put up individual booths, for the state will give very valuable assistance in the matter of booths, only asking the assistance of the county organizations, demonstration teams, etc.

What the state department is trying to do in all of its projects will be shown, of course, but the state is making less demands upon the counties this year in regard to the state fair. There will be one demonstration booth, where there will be a large raised platform, seats, etc., and one demonstration will be in progress at a time.

Mr. Wright then gave the purpose of the junior extension work and therefore of this very informal conference to be the giving of instruction in agriculture and home-making, from which they could get practical help in both lines. He considered it almost as important then to connect up the work that the boys and girls were doing, with the communities, so that the communities could have a realization of the value of the work thus being done. This, of course, would be accomplished through demonstrations of the work.

Already there is much evidence that the junior extension work among the boys and girls is proving to be an important contributing factor in changing agricultural and home making practices throughout the sections where it is being carried on. Finally Mr. Wright urged the effort of trying to measure up the results attained by the work.

RAIL GUARDS SHOOT
TWO IN RIOTING CROWDS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Buffalo, July 21.—Hit in the head by shots fired by Erie Railroad detectives, two boys, Walter Milas, 380 Exchange street, 11 years old, and Stephen Warhol, 221 Maurice street, 17 years old, are in Emergency Hospital where they are in a critical condition.

A bullet fired during the excitement last night struck Mrs. Catherine Strabel, 937 Seneca street, in the leg.

Mrs. Strabel, who is about 50 years old, was descending the stairs in her home. She was not seriously injured. The shots which wounded the boys were fired, police say, by Detectives Fred J. Hollenbeck, 24 years old, of 32 Andrew street, and Walter Kemp, 29 years old, No. 500 Good-year street. Armed with shotguns they had been patrolling the viaduct in Seneca street near Solkirk. When the crowd which had gathered around the viaduct began throwing rocks at passing trains, they fired three shots in the crowd to break up the rioting.

Cats Sense Earthquakes.

Cats and some other animals seem to be endowed with what some investigators regard as a sixth sense in their ability to sense the approach of an earthquake or similar disturbance. In the earthquake countries it is frequently noted that the cats are very restless just before one of these demonstrations. At Valparaiso the family cat of a well-known scientist was noticed to be very restless, its uneasiness increasing up to the point when a "trembler" was experienced and during the disturbance the animal's hair was raised and ears flattened.

Oysters Grow on Trees.

In the Foranto harbor of Italy the sight of oysters growing on trees may be seen. This does not mean that the oysters grow like apples and such fruit, but it is the custom there, where the oysters are cultivated, to put trees into the water for the young oysters to cling to. This scheme is said to save innumerable baby oysters which would otherwise be devoured by fish before they had a chance to develop. The trees are placed in the water with the trunks up and when it comes time to transplant the oysters the trees are taken up bodily and carried to the new grounds, saving much labor.

Desiccated Vegetables

When dehydrated raw vegetable are stored in airtight containers ordinary temperatures investigation show that their moisture content is a potent factor in their preservation. There is a "critical" moisture content below which the distinctive color and taste is retained unimpaired for a period of six months. For instance, it is from 3 to 3.34 per cent; for corn, 5.74 to 6.61 per cent. There is more injury from exposure to an atmosphere of comparatively high humidity at lower temperatures than from similar exposure to a dry atmosphere.

STUDENT OFFICER
KILLS INSTRUCTOR

Ensign, Roulot, prominent army aviator, accidentally shot with forbidden ammunition by Lieut. Purcell at Mitchell Field.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mineola, N. Y., July 21.—First Lieut. John P. Roulot, army aviator, stationed at Mitchell Flying Field, was accidentally shot and killed on the pistol range, it was announced today. The shot was fired by Lieut. Robert Purcell, who was undergoing a course of instruction in the reserve officers' training school.

Officers attached to Mitchell Field issued a brief statement saying that the shooting was purely accidental. No report was made by the Mitchell Field officers to the civil authorities.

Purcell's home is at 81 East avenue, Rochester, N. Y. He is married and has two children.

Major W. R. Weaver, commander of the field, and Captain Ira C. Baker, who were on duty there at the time, said that Lieut. Roulot was instructing a group of student officers in the care and handling of an automatic pistol. No ammunition had been issued, to avoid danger of accidental discharges.

After the students had assembled their pistols under the direction of Lieut. Roulot, several of them were seated around a table on the pistol range talking. Lieut. Purcell, it is understood, loaded his weapon with ammunition he was supposed to have brought home with him.

Later Purcell was said to have slipped the pistol into his holster. A few minutes later, in withdrawing the pistol from the holster, it was discharged in some manner. The 45 calibre bullet entered Lieut. Roulot's abdomen. Roulot was seated at the table from Purcell at the time.

Lieut. Roulot was one of the best known aviators in the United States army. He had recently been assigned to duty at Mitchell Field, coming from France Field, Panama Canal Zone, where he left his bride

NEW U. & D. SHOP

Alex Sturgeon has his pile driver and a gang of men at work driving the piles in the ground on the site of the new shops of the Ulster and Delaware railroad. Nine piles are driven in each hole upon which will be placed concrete forms which will support the big beams to be used in the construction of the building. The work is progressing rapidly on the new shops, all the buildings having been torn down in the yard where the new construction work is to take place. Work is also progressing rapidly on tearing down the old blue-stone building and it will be but a short time now before it will be merely a memory.

STATE TROOPERS
REACH BUFFALO

Six Troops Comprising 200 Men, Fully Armed, Ready For Strike Duty—Broadway Tracks Blocked And Fires Burning.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Buffalo, N. Y., July 21.—Six troops of the state constabulary are now in Buffalo, prepared to go the limit to put an end to violence in connection with Buffalo's street car strike. The men are under the command of Major George F. Chandler. They had been mobilized at the Batavia barracks and came into Buffalo this morning, 250 strong.

Each man is armed with a "forty five," 100 rounds of ammunition and a riot stick. Each has a helmet to be worn in case of stone throwing. A number of them will do duty on motorcycles.

Reports this morning were that Broadway, from Fillmore avenue east, was littered with rubbish; that street car tracks have been blocked; that bonfires were burning in the thoroughfare and that the street was a scene of bedlam generally, but there had been no violence.

Batavia, N. Y., July 21.—Not more than a dozen members of Troop A of the New York state constabulary were left in their barracks here today, all the others having been rushed to Buffalo for duty in the street railway strike.

The total number of state troopers moved to Buffalo from Batavia was about 200. Some went by train; others by motor trolley. Most of the men and their horses entrained on the New York Central early in the morning. The men are equipped with service pistols, bayonets and riot clubs. Their movements were carried out with as much secrecy as possible.

CONFERENCE LAST NIGHT FRUITLESS

Rail Executives Refuse to Recede on Seniority Question and Ask Why Their Properties Can't be Assured Protection Like Miners.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 21.—Executives of the five big eastern railroads, who held a secret conference here last night with members of the senate interstate commerce committee, flatly refused to yield on the point of granting seniority rights to striking shopmen if they return to work. It was stated today by one of the executives.

One of the railway presidents informed those present at the conference that he could see no reason why the government should assure coal operators protection in resuming mining, while the railroads have no such assurance.

UNION MINERS DRIVE
PUMPMEN FROM MINES

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mount Carmel, Pa., July 21.—Responding to the call of a bugle, more than 500 members of the United Mine Workers gathered at the Richards Colliery, a Susquehanna Collieries Company operation near here at 4 o'clock this morning and prevented pumpmen, engineers and firemen from resuming their duties.

Shortly afterward, a mob of nearly 400 men appeared at the Green Ridge operation and chased the engineers, firemen and pumpmen home. Seven state troopers were on hand and prevented disorder.

Thought Opals Lucky.

Queen Victoria was not superstitious about opals. In striking contrast to her unfortunate contemporary, the Empress Eugenie of France, who had a deep-rooted fear of them, Victoria thought them to be both beautiful and lucky and had a parure of opals and diamonds made for each of her daughters as a wedding gift.

RAIL BOARD IS UPHOLD
AGAINST PENNSYLVANIA R. R.

Court Decision Unfavorable To Road's "Union" Plan.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, July 21.—The claim of the Railroad Labor Board to possess the power of criticizing those who ignore its decisions appeared to be upheld yesterday in a judgment rendered by Justices Baker, Alschuler and Evans in the Federal Court of Appeals, reversing the decision of Federal Judge Page in the test case of the Pennsylvania Road in connection with a decision of the board.

The decision, in effect, not only restores props that had been knocked from under the labor unions, but it removes a grievance that railway shopmen have nursed for months.

In a controversy between the board and the Pennsylvania Railroad, Judge Page had ruled that the board was not an integral part of the government, was a corporate body, and therefore could sue and be sued. The decision has an important bearing on the present railroad strike inasmuch as the original dispute involved the forming of a "company union" by the Pennsylvania, which refused to meet unions of the federated shop crafts. The railroad insisted that it had the right to deal with its own employees and Judge Landis supported this contention by granting a temporary injunction restraining the Labor Board from criticizing the actions of the railroad in connection with the company union matter. Later Judge Page made the injunction permanent.

In his decision Judge Page ruled that the Railroad Labor Board had exceeded its authority and had jurisdiction only in cases directly concerning wages and working rules. The decision was appealed by Solicitor General Beck, who contended that it would invalidate hundreds of the board's rulings. Yesterday's action of the Court of Appeals, it was predicted, will invalidate the wage agreement which the Pennsylvania Railroad recently announced it had made with its shop employees, because the Labor Board found that the road was dealing with representatives of less than 15 per cent. of its employees, without considering the sentiments of the remainder of the workers. Officials of the road this week announced that the new wage agreement affected 140,000.

Reversal of Judge Page's ruling is held to mean that the Pennsylvania, the most prominent carrier fostering the open shop, will be compelled to meet with shop crafts to representatives in selecting employees to meet with its officials.

Fathers? Not!

In the holiday seasons, when the toy shop windows are glittering with all sorts of splendors, nothing is more pathetic than a group of middle-aged and white-headed folk who elbow the children aside to obtain a glimpse of the railways, the dolls, the boats, and all the other delights of the world in miniature. The sentimentalists remark: "Poor things, they are wishing they had enough money to buy that doll for little Annie or that pony cart for little Alec." Bosh! They are wishing they had had enough courage to buy them for themselves and play with them bravely before the whole family of amateur alienists—Harper's Magazine.

MEXICAN BANDIT GOROZABE KILLED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 21.—The Mexican embassy today received official confirmation of the killing of the bandit leader Gorozabe, who captured 10 American citizens near Tampico, holding them for ransom. Despatches to the embassy from Mexico City said Gorozabe was overtaken by federal troops and killed during the fight which ensued. Officials expressed the belief that the death of the bandit would put an end to the unrest caused by his followers in the Zacamiztl region near Tampico.

TAGGING THE BASES IN THE BASE LEAGUES

The poor, unfortunate, broken-down Indians. All they have been able to do is win eleven straight ball games, the eleventh being an 8 to 2 victory in which one pitched the Senators silly.

Although again on the Red Sox, our noble champion Giants slipped under the wire to a 7 to 3 victory through their inability to assault Donohue when a safety meant something besides a dot in the base hit column.

Pennock left-handed his way to a 3 to 2 decision over Faber and the White Sox.

The Yanks kept hot on the pennant trail by scoring one of their very few victories over the Tigers.

The disastrous western trip of the Dodgers was marked by their second victory since abandoning home cooking. Burleigh Grimes outlasted Kautzman and the Cubs, 11 to 7.

Van Gilder tied the Athletics into knots in scoring a 1 to 0 victory for the Browns.

For no reason at all, the Phils carried the Pirates to twelve innings before yielding gracefully to the inevitable, 2 to 1. It was a fine pitching duel between Weir and Glasner.

Planned a General Campaign
Throughout the South

A general campaign for the better protection of songbirds is to be conducted throughout the South by the Associated Audubon Societies, a national organization. T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the organization, who has been studying southern bird life, deplors evidence he has found which indicates that bird mortality in the South has about wiped out valuable species in many localities. In South Carolina he found conditions in this respect very distressing, while a survey in Texas revealed a similar situation. But his indictment covers the entire South, and hence the campaign in contemplation is to include all the southern states. Mr. Gilbert directed the attention of farmers to the fact that the fight against the boll weevil is being greatly handicapped by the slaughter of birds. In this connection he said further:

"While they feed on insects and do not specialize on boll weevils, a single songbird will destroy great quantities of weevils. The value of these birds in checking the multiplication of insects is thoroughly understood all through the North, where the laws protecting birds are observed. In most sections of the North a farmer would prosecute anyone killing songbirds on his lands. But in many parts of the South the farmers, his sons and the hired men kill birds constantly, eating the robin and some of the other larger varieties and shooting many of the smaller varieties for sport."—New Orleans Picayune.

QUESTION FOR LAW SHARKS
Nice Point Concerning Ownership of Pearl Which Cook Discovered in Claim She Was Eating.

A nice question of ethics and of law is raised by the case of the cook at Atlantic City who choked on a pearl found in a clam she was eating and whose mistress then claimed the precious obstruction for her own.

In the diamond mines of the Rand at Kimberley the native workman who swallows a diamond does not, ipso facto, make it his own. He digs in the blue clay on the understanding that the every jewel discovered belongs to the De Beers Mining company, Ltd. But the cook was in a different situation. She was given her food as a part of her compensation. The pearl is an excellent part of the claim: it is the picturesque result of a diseased condition.

If possession is nine-tenths of the law, then the cook is entitled to the pearl on the principle of "findings are keepings." In any case, the lady of the house would be entitled to boast, as many a mistress has asserted, "I have a pearl in my cook!"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Lived With Coffin Twenty-Five Years
When Mrs. Effie Barnes became ill at Lumberton, N. C., 25 years ago she sent for a carpenter to have him make her a coffin to order. He turned out a nice box of hard pine, varnished black, and at the old woman's request placed it under her bed. She grew better immediately. During subsequent illnesses she has had the coffin brought out from under the bed, and every time has got well. Meanwhile, living by herself in her lonely little house on the edge of the village, says an exchange, she has felt safe and has been as safe from chicken thieves and other marauders as if she had a pack of fierce bulldogs to protect her. The negro population of the surrounding country had a deadly fear of the old woman's house and would never go near it after dark. Now the coffin has been put to its original use. Death has claimed its owner at the ripe age of ninety-four, and her friends and neighbors have laid her away.Constancy!
Eileen was annoyed; she felt the family honor had been badly stained. It was Dora's fault, so she spoke to her about it.

"It's no use denying it, Dora. Although it was too dark for me to see who it was, I distinctly saw some man kiss you in the garden."

Dora was modern, and didn't appreciate her sister's argument.

"I don't see why," she said. "I've often seen George kiss you."

"Oh, that's different. I'm engaged to George. I allow nobody but him to kiss me."

"Exactly," said Dora. "I allow nobody but George to kiss me."

Famous Tracker Dead.
Perhaps the oldest of the Australian aborigines has lately died at the age of 101. His name was Jack Schoofie, and he was commonly known as King Jacky.

He was known all over the district of Hindal where he was living, for his skill with cattle and horses, up to the age of ninety, and for the instinct of observation by which he could follow a track that an ordinary man could not see at all.

Jacky was a full-blooded aboriginal, and perhaps the last of the men who linked together the old life of the native with the new life of civilization.

The Day's Catch.
"Where's your pa?" asked the man with the brand-new outing clothes.

"Gone fishin'," replied the small boy.

"What does he expect to catch?"

"Nobin' while he's fishin'. But maw told him he'd catch the dickens if he didn't clear out while she was home cleanin'."

Weather Affects Wireless.
A curious thing about wireless telegraphy is the way it is affected by sunrise and sunset. Transatlantic signals during the day are invariably clear, but those received at sunrise and sunset are said to be barely distinguishable.Associated Audubon Societies Have

In South Carolina he found conditions in this respect very distressing, while a survey in Texas revealed a similar situation. But his indictment covers the entire South, and hence the campaign in contemplation is to include all the southern states. Mr. Gilbert directed the attention of farmers to the fact that the fight against the boll weevil is being greatly handicapped by the slaughter of birds. In this connection he said further:

"While they feed on insects and do not specialize on boll weevils, a single songbird will destroy great quantities of weevils. The value of these birds in checking the multiplication of insects is thoroughly understood all through the North, where the laws protecting birds are observed. In most sections of the North a farmer would prosecute anyone killing songbirds on his lands. But in many parts of the South the farmers, his sons and the hired men kill birds constantly, eating the robin and some of the other larger varieties and shooting many of the smaller varieties for sport."—New Orleans Picayune.

QUESTION FOR LAW SHARKS
Nice Point Concerning Ownership of Pearl Which Cook Discovered in Claim She Was Eating.

A nice question of ethics and of law is raised by the case of the cook at Atlantic City who choked on a pearl found in a clam she was eating and whose mistress then claimed the precious obstruction for her own.

In the diamond mines of the Rand at Kimberley the native workman who swallows a diamond does not, ipso facto, make it his own. He digs in the blue clay on the understanding that the every jewel discovered belongs to the De Beers Mining company, Ltd. But the cook was in a different situation. She was given her food as a part of her compensation. The pearl is an excellent part of the claim: it is the picturesque result of a diseased condition.

If possession is nine-tenths of the law, then the cook is entitled to the pearl on the principle of "findings are keepings." In any case, the lady of the house would be entitled to boast, as many a mistress has asserted, "I have a pearl in my cook!"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Lived With Coffin Twenty-Five Years
When Mrs. Effie Barnes became ill at Lumberton, N. C., 25 years ago she sent for a carpenter to have him make her a coffin to order. He turned out a nice box of hard pine, varnished black, and at the old woman's request placed it under her bed. She grew better immediately. During subsequent illnesses she has had the coffin brought out from under the bed, and every time has got well. Meanwhile, living by herself in her lonely little house on the edge of the village, says an exchange, she has felt safe and has been as safe from chicken thieves and other marauders as if she had a pack of fierce bulldogs to protect her. The negro population of the surrounding country had a deadly fear of the old woman's house and would never go near it after dark. Now the coffin has been put to its original use. Death has claimed its owner at the ripe age of ninety-four, and her friends and neighbors have laid her away.Constancy!
Eileen was annoyed; she felt the family honor had been badly stained. It was Dora's fault, so she spoke to her about it.

"It's no use denying it, Dora. Although it was too dark for me to see who it was, I distinctly saw some man kiss you in the garden."

Dora was modern, and didn't appreciate her sister's argument.

"I don't see why," she said. "I've often seen George kiss you."

"Oh, that's different. I'm engaged to George. I allow nobody but him to kiss me."

"Exactly," said Dora. "I allow nobody but George to kiss me."

Famous Tracker Dead.
Perhaps the oldest of the Australian aborigines has lately died at the age of 101. His name was Jack Schoofie, and he was commonly known as King Jacky.

He was known all over the district of Hindal where he was living, for his skill with cattle and horses, up to the age of ninety, and for the instinct of observation by which he could follow a track that an ordinary man could not see at all.

Jacky was a full-blooded aboriginal, and perhaps the last of the men who linked together the old life of the native with the new life of civilization.

The Day's Catch.
"Where's your pa?" asked the man with the brand-new outing clothes.

"Gone fishin'," replied the small boy.

"What does he expect to catch?"

"Nobin' while he's fishin'. But maw told him he'd catch the dickens if he didn't clear out while she was home cleanin'."

Weather Affects Wireless.
A curious thing about wireless telegraphy is the way it is affected by sunrise and sunset. Transatlantic signals during the day are invariably clear, but those received at sunrise and sunset are said to be barely distinguishable.

BEGGARS REAP HARVEST IN N. Y.

Professional Panhandlers Have Palatial Country Homes.

ONE PICKED UP $60 AN HOUR

Roy P. Gates, Executive of the Joint Application Bureau of the Charity Organization Society, Declares He Knows of One Mendicant Who Has Good Home in Suburbs and Commutes to His Business Daily and Keeps "Profession" a Secret.

Jobs in general may be scarcer than usual, but the wily-minded beggars who "work" New York are reported to be doing so well that their profession is taking in recruits at an unparalleled rate.

One gentleman who nightly pours hard-luck stories into the ears of passers-by is said to own a country place, kept up by the cash his appeals bring in. Another professional panhandler is credited with having one of the best-stocked liquor cellars in New York. These, of course, are professional men who have made a profound study of the business of getting something for nothing.

The man who is actually suffering from hunger, or is facing the prospect of "carrying the banner" all night for the lack of the price of a bed, cannot tell so convincing a story as a gentleman who lives in the country and has his money in the bank. Especially in the Times square district, according to reports issued by the New York joint application bureau of the Charity Organization Society and by the Federation of Jewish Charities, professional beggary has increased until it is carried on today on a greater scale than ever before.

Pick Up $60 an Hour. It is perfectly easy for an active beggar or panhandler to earn $5 an hour or more, whereas earnings up to $60 an hour have been reported, according to Roy P. Gates, the executive of the joint application bureau, who is considered to be the greatest authority on "panhandling" in this country.

To test begging conditions and to estimate the number of professionalists at work, Mr. Gates frequently does a little "panhandling" himself. At a recent experiment at Herald Square he collected $3.32 in 40 minutes. Conditions are nearly the same in other big cities, according to Mr. Gates, who on a visit to Boston "panhandled" for an hour on one corner and picked up $5.31.

Beggar Has Country Home. "I know one professional who has a good home in the country and commutes daily," said Mr. Gates. "I do not believe that his business is known where he lives. After trying out many occupations he found begging the most profitable and stuck to it. I am not sufficiently in his confidence to know just what his methods are, but I think he makes changes in his clothes in the morning when he arrives here and before he returns to his country home, where he is apparently regarded as a solid and substantial citizen."

"I know a one-legged beggar who works the South ferry district who has one of the best-stocked liquor cellars in New York."

"Victims" of Disasters. Times Square now harbors the elite of the mendicants of the East, who have applied modern publicity methods to their professions. Most of them got out of the hospital after being in some disaster which has figured largely in the news.

"The great amount of begging today is due of course to widespread unemployment. During times when there was plenty of employment the beggar was unpopular."

"The case of the blind is somewhat different, because few can do any real work. A very large percentage of the blind beggars turn out to have pretty good eyesight when they are investigated. The case is also different, of course, with those hopelessly crippled. Of the crippled beggars very few are World War veterans, though a number wear pants of military uniforms."

Holds World's Record.

The world's record for fast begging is believed to be held by Thomas Campbell, who lost an arm in a railroad accident and raised Times Square crowds in khaki and a soldier's hat, with a row of medals across his breast. He was arrested and found weighted with several pounds of pennies, nickels and silvers and a sheaf of bills. He confessed he had made $60 in one hour. Campbell's methods were unique. He went through a Times Square crowd as a crack half-back goes through an open field, thrusting the stump of an arm into face after face, holding his other hand open and exclaiming:

"You understand. Come across!" His one good hand was hardly fast enough to take in the money thrust at him.

Youngster Gang Robbed Slot Machines.

A youngster gang that carried on a profitable business in robbing chewing gum slot machines was discovered in New York City, with the arrest of Herman Scholnick and Benjamin Klossky. Herman is the leader of the gang and Benjamin is a recruit. It is charged. The former carried 2,200 pennies, while his apprentice filled his pockets with about 600.

Explicit. Chief Justice Taft, a great reader, was discussing books at a dinner party in Washington: "This high-brow talk about 'style,'" he said, "amuses me. 'Style' usually means affection. The best writers have no style. It's as if they were talking to you." "Stylists are always looking for trouble. One of them entered a drug store the other day and asked for a man's comb." "Do you want a narrow man's comb?" asked the attendant. "The stylist gave a disgusted laugh. "No," he said, "I want a comb for a stout man with rubber teeth."

BATTERY COMPANY SEES BETTER BUSINESS CONDITIONS

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Pittsburgh, Pa., July, 21.—A steady improvement in business conditions in all parts of the country is evidenced by a survey just completed by the Westinghouse Union Battery Company, of Swissvale, Pa. By means of a questionnaire circulated among its distributors and service stations numbering more than 1,800, the Westinghouse company learned that American business in general is considerably better than it was six months ago.

From the questionnaires, a cross-section of the country was selected embracing 156 cities and towns, including the large industrial centers.

On the question of improved conditions, reports from 102 places showed a general business mend, while thirty-six indicated improvement as slow or slight, and eighteen could see no change.

To the question, "Are conditions better than they were six months ago?" 130 places answered in the affirmative and twenty-four in the negative. In comparison with a year ago, ninety-two saw improvement and sixty did not.

The lines of business reported as most active are automotive, building and manufacturing, in the order named. Automobile repair and accessories were mentioned as being active more frequently than sale of new cars.

Great improvement in the employment situation is indicated by the fact that one third of the returns reported no unemployment and over one third of the remainder estimated unemployment under ten per cent. The few towns having a high percentage of idle workers were in the main subject to unusual conditions such as strikes. Optimism was the keynote of virtually all replies.

If you're free from constipation show this to some sufferer!

One of the greatest benefits to humanity that has been made available to every man, woman and child in America is Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Kellogg's Bran will relieve constipation permanently if it is eaten regularly. If people of this nation generally would eat Kellogg's Bran nine-tenths of all sickness would be eliminated.

Physicians endorse Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, for constipation because constipation is naturally relieved through proper food. We guarantee Kellogg's Bran will relieve constipation if at least two tablespoonfuls are eaten daily. We advise as much as necessary for chronic cases.

Kellogg's Bran acts as a sweeper, cleansing and purifying. But it is not "remedy"; rather a nature food! Unlike pills and cathartics, which are not only irritating to the delicate intestinal tract, and afford but temporary relief at best—bran is not habit-forming. Effects of pills and cathartics wear off and it is necessary for the sufferer to find some new and more violent bowel agitator. Kellogg's Bran never ceases its regular work.

Kellogg's Bran at the same time will clear a plump complexion and sweeten the breath.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is one of the most delicious cereals you ever ate. Its nut-like flavor is delightful. Or sprinkle it on your favorite cereal and use it in various foods such as bran bread, muffins, pancakes, gravies, etc. Recipes on package. Get it at your grocer's.

TO URGE FOREST PRESERVATION

Engineers Plan National Campaign to Save Trees.

FOREST FIRES CHIEF MENACE

North Carolina Forest Service recommends Strengthening of Forest Fire Laws to include Protective Measures by Railroads and Lumbermen and Largely Increased Appropriations for Fire Prevention and State Policy for Acquiring Forests and Parks.

A national program of reforestation, to be pushed by the government, engineering societies, universities, railroads, farmers' organizations, boy scouts and moving picture interests is being planned by the American Engineering Council of the Forest Engineering Council of the United States, announced at New York.

A forestry committee of the council, headed by Charles H. McDowell of Chicago, is in active charge of the movement, under direction of the president of the council, Dean Mortimer E. Cooley of the engineering department, University of Michigan.

The committee already has received reports from most states regarding existing forest conditions, with recommendations for meeting the problems of forest protection and extension in those states. Many of these reports, it is said, regard this a critical period in the development of a national policy of reforestation.

Tells Romance of Forest.

The United States forest service and the engineering council have taken steps to inform the public regarding the utility of forests. The forest service has prepared a scenario depicting the romance of the forest, as a medium for giving this information. That part of the plans affecting the moving picture industry will be laid before Will H. Hays, it was explained.

Among the reports of forest conditions in various states were those showing that in Maine, Massachusetts and many other states the chief problem was that of forest fires.

The North Carolina forest service recommended the strengthening of forest fire laws to include protective measures by railroads, lumbermen, etc., largely increased appropriations for fire protection; state policy for acquiring forests and parks, for supplying nursery trees and for education and publicity in forestry; increased federal appropriation for co-operation with states, purchase of lands for national forests and for investigations of forest and wood using problems.

New York, Michigan and several other states recommended reforestation by planting of proper trees. Many states had problems of excessive grazing, and urged protection for small trees.

Urged Protection of Trees.

The American Engineering Council's committee is obtaining exact data on the extent of the national forest land. Reports from state foresters thus far received show the following figures: California, 13,500,000 acres; Georgia, 20,000,000; Idaho, 23,000,000; Indiana, 1,540,000; Iowa, 2,500,000; Kansas, 1,051,600; Maine, 13,000,000; Maryland, 2,228,000; Massachusetts, 1,000,000; Michigan, 15,000,000; Minnesota, 26,000,000; Missouri, 10,000,000; New York, 12,000,000; North Carolina, 20,000,000; Ohio, 2,200,000; Oregon, 18,775,000; Washington, 11,800,000.

GETS FIRST TRAIN RIDE

Aged Woman Tried an Automobile and Did Not Like It.

Some one is always hobbling up to give the blasé world a new grip on itself. Mrs. Sarah Beauchamp, eighty-three, had her first train ride recently when she came to La Grande, Ore., from her home near Hildard.

Mrs. Beauchamp came to Oregon 75 years ago in a prairie schooner with her parents, and has lived near Hildard since that time. Her first ride in an automobile came last summer, but once was enough.

The "Devil's Sink Wagon," as she named the car on the spot, was the first and last vehicle of gasoline locomotion that she has "enjoyed."

PLANES ROUT HOTENTOTS

Air Forces Most Successful in Recent African Uprising.

Airplanes did more to strike terror into the insurgent Hotentots in the recent uprising forces, says the Cape Town correspondent of the Cape Argus. The airmen were successful both in spotting the enemy and finding the government's patrols.

Airplanes discovered one body of Hotentots in the mountain gorges, where they sat warming themselves by a fire shortly after dawn. The airman dropped bombs and opened machine gun fire on them. Scores were killed, and the others fled in all directions, yet ten of them could have held the plateau against an army.

Herd of Deer Quite Tame.

A herd of deer, consisting of two bucks, six does and a fawn, have taken up their abode on the farm of Eli Reinholdt, in the Luraytown valley, near Weathersfield, Pa., and are frequently seen by passing motorists. The deer appear to be quite tame and feed in the fields not far from the Reinholdt farmhouse.

The Difference.

"The main difference 'twixt me an' my boy Jim," explained the farmer, "is that when I put in a day at work I don't feel runnin' round nights, and when Jim puts in a night runnin' round he don't feel like workin' days."

HIGHLAND.

Highland, July 20.—Mrs. Randall gave a party Tuesday afternoon for her children and all enjoyed every moment of the time spent at their home on the banks of the Hudson.

Mrs. George Auchmoody and daughter, Gertrude, have returned from a delightful motor trip to Long Island, where they spent a week with relatives.

Hovel and Leo families entertained week end guests from the city. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Plass have had recent guests from Chicago. The Rev. Foster A. Coons was in town last week, called here to preach the funeral sermon of Mrs. Philip Landfried.

Dr. J. Preston and family are now spending their vacation at Asbury Park, where they have a bungalow. The Grange met Tuesday evening and made arrangements for a picnic. A block dance will be held this Friday evening for Odd Fellows' lodge. The dance is to be on Church street.

Howard E. Wilcox's residence is looking fine since the painters finished it. They changed the color, which is a decided improvement. Lloyd Plass is selling automobiles right along. It seems people can't get along without them.

Highland Hose Company's new building is on its way and all hope its completion is not very far distant. Improvements are going on here. We are now getting on the anxious seat about the bank building.

We are sorry to hear of Mrs. Perry Hittcheck's illness. She is in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Her many friends here hope to hear of her speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Scott of Washington avenue have guests at this writing from Kingston.

Mrs. Julia Worden of Vineyard avenue has returned home. She has been visiting friends in Brooklyn and had a very pleasant time sightseeing and shopping.

Mrs. Minnie Anderson is now enjoying her vacation among her relatives and friends here. She resides in Bogota, New Jersey.

The Ladies' Guild of Holy Trinity Church held a meeting last Friday at 3 o'clock in the Parish House. They had quite some business and a pleasant social time. It is very nice that they have taken over the renting of a place to meet instead of the renting out, for it seems that a proper meeting place should be secured for it is not always convenient to meet at the various homes.

Attend the fair on the church grounds for the Presbyterian Church, August 11th. There will be useful articles on sale and good things to eat. Peter Con has the most attractive place in this village. His ice cream parlor is up to date and everything first class. The new restaurant in the new building of Seaman's is doing a good business. Their meats are good, service fine, and price reasonable. If you want fine candy, just visit the ice cream and candy store.

Mrs. George Hildebrand opened her home Wednesday for the meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church. They had a good meeting, lots of business and refreshments.

Jay Hasbrouck, who has been here from Iowa, left for his home Tuesday evening. He and his family will soon move back in this section.

Mrs. Theron DuBois, who has been in Vassar Hospital for eye treatment, came home Sunday and is improving rapidly to the delight of herself, family and friends.

Andrus Dukous and family are now on their annual vacation. Harry Elliott has a new bus on the line running through Clintonville. It is a fine trip on a hot day.

Dr. W. T. Rivenburgh of Vineyard avenue has improved the appearance of his place greatly by having it painted.

P. E. O. members held a meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jerome C. Pratt.

Mrs. Harvey Traver was hostess last Saturday afternoon to the members of the U. D. Society, and all had a gala time.

Ruby Cornell is spending part of her vacation in Clintonville with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Cluett Schantz have returned from their wedding trip and are at home in Marlborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilcox have been spending the week end at Watson Hollow.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Harrington entertained week end guests from Walkill and Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Fisher had relatives from Marlborough visiting them past week.

Herman Charles is now employed as clerk in Charles Whitaker's store. Mr. and Mrs. Kerney of Montclair, N. J., have returned to their home after spending some time pleasantly with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lent have entertained guests the week end from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac C. Dayton were recent guests of relatives in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Adaline Terwilliger of White street has entertained some relatives recently from Greene county.

Captain R. H. Decker is improving from the severe flu cold. He was able to be in New Paltz Monday.

Wednesday R. H. Decker resumed his duties as captain of Brinckerhoff after illness of over a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhodes spent a few days past week in Tarrytown with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Randall.

O. S. Ingraham is the delegate for K. of P. Lodge at Alexandria Bay. The convention is being held there.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martin have guests from Catskill this week.

Grange will picnic at Bear Mountain August 2. All Grangers be on hand.

Gallo of Achaia.

Gallo, deputy of Achaia, mentioned in Acts XVIII, 12-17, is well known in Roman history. Greece, like about all the countries bordering on the Mediterranean sea, was a part of the Roman empire, and the southern part of Greece with the adjacent islands formed one province known as Achaia. At the time of St. Paul Achaia was a senatorial province, that is, one administered by the senate and not by the emperor, and the title of the local ruler was proconsul. At the time referred to in that chapter of Acts the proconsul was Gallo, but in our English version of the Book of Acts the title is translated deputy. The seat of his government was in the city of Corinth, in which St. Paul founded a church to which he wrote two letters.

Marriage in Poland.

The average man isn't overjoyed to learn that with his wife he is acquiring a large following of in-laws. But in Poland it is different. In the marriage contract the man does not inquire what a girl's portion is, but how many relatives she has, as each one is relied upon for a gift. It is not unusual for the woman to propose a match, through her parents.

SPOONERS PREFER A CAR TO HORSE

Times Have Changed Since Dad Used to Spoon Around With the Girls in His Rubber Tired Buggy and Bob-tailed Nag—Spooners on the West Hurley Dam.

When Dad was a young man and went courting the girls he polished the harness and cleaned up the rubber tired buggy until they fairly shone, gave the bob-tailed nag an extra rubbing down and then in his Sunday suit drove around to her house in style. Times have changed since then, however, and now the young man who does not sport a car is out of luck.

Dad used to brag in the old days how he could drive the most spirited horse with one hand, but the young man who can not drive a high powered car with one hand is not only old fashioned but not a favorite in these days of bobbed hair, short skirts and jazz. In the old days they used to bob the horse's tail, but now the girls bob their hair. Yes indeed times do change says the Old Timer. In the "good old days" the young man when he did not take her out driving behind the bob-tailed nag would spend a pleasant evening on the old front porch and strum a banjo and hum the old songs. Now the old front porch is too slow for the modern miss and she much prefers the purr of a sixty horsepower motor as it spins over the fine roads that surround Kingston.

There used to be sport in sitting two in a hammock in the old days but the latest decree of fashion is to stop the car alongside the road just as the sun begins to sink behind the Catskill and Shawangunk mountains and as she cuddles up a little closer they watch the sun go down in splendor and then seek the nearest road house for a bite to eat and a chance to dance to the strains of some jazz orchestra and roll home about midnight or in the early hours of the next day.

Spooners in an automobile has become a popular pastime with many of the younger element of Kingston and one of the favorite resorts is on the road that crosses on top of the West Hurley dam of the Ashokan reservoir.

The next time you go out for an auto ride in the early evening have your friend drive you across the West Hurley dam and just as the sun begins to sink below the mountains then you will find automobiles parked fifteen feet apart and unless you glance sharply all you will see is what appears to be one figure in the corner of the seat. There is nothing to beat spooning neath the light of the moon in the front seat of an automobile according to the younger generation.

And it is a luckless young swain who would attempt to invite the lady of his heart out for a buggy ride in these days of the automobile. If ever he got the icy stare and the marble heart "them is the times."

As stated before times have changed since Dad was a young man and these days you not only win your better half in an automobile but drive away on your honeymoon in a car, and the last ride you ever take is also in a car.

Come are the days of the old bob-tailed nag and the rubber tired buggy and gone seem to be the days of the horse-drawn hearse. Within the past five years in Kingston, as well as elsewhere, the folks are not "putting on airs" when they have the "late lamented" taken to the cemetery in an auto hearse. Instead it is the exception rather than the rule when the funeral cortege is not an automobile one.

At the present time there are but two livery stables in operation in Kingston, and it was not so many years ago when liveries could be found galore. The livery of fifteen and twenty years ago is now a hustling garage, and the old horse stalls have long ago disappeared together with the old brass rail used to grace the old drink emporiums.

"Yes, times have changed" mused the Old Timer as he took another chaw of "Higginsville Pride," but Kingston's famous product still remains the same.

Looked Bad for Client.

Attorneys, in making an appeal to a jury in behalf of a client, frequently make assertions which give rise to laughter. There is hardly a jury trial that does not offer some such mirth. Recently in one of the Indianapolis Superior courts the introduction of evidence had been completed and one of the attorneys in the case arose to address the jurors. He spoke in this manner: "Gentlemen of the jury, the position of my client in this case is identical with the preacher who was walking alone on a country road one day when he met a great, big grizzly bear." At this point the judge of the court turned and whispered to a bystander: "It looks like his client is going to be torn to pieces."

The World's Antiseptic.

The sun bath establishments of the higher Alps are flourishing as it seems to be established as a fact that the sun's rays have certain curative powers and the persons who go there seem to be improved to a great degree. It has been noticed in England and Wales that there is a relationship between the amount of sunshine and the death rate. One recent year was noted as the sunniest ever experienced and the death rate was the lowest.

HELICOPTER IS VIEWED BY U. S. NAVAL EXPERTS

Airplane Remains Stationary in Air and Then Speeds Around Course.

Under scrutiny of experts from the Navy department the helicopter, invented by Emil Berliner and his son, successfully underwent a series of trials near College Park, Md. Rising steadily to a height of seven feet, the helicopter, operated by Henry Berliner, poised in the air, motionless. Its motion was neither forward nor backward, and the operator was apparently able to make it rise, fall or remain steadfast, at will.

Three times was the experiment tried. Then, not content with having shown the main features of the craft, Berliner drove it around the half-mile course. The big craft circled the track several times and then came to rest at the feet of a crowd of on-lookers.

Commander J. C. Hunsaker, in charge of the naval experts, refused to comment on the experiment in advance of his official report to his superiors.

Twenty years the elder Berliner has striven to complete his invention. He gave up the work and his son took up where the father had left off. The fundamental principles as they had been worked out by the senior Berliner were correct, and the son completed minor details standing in the way of a successful helicopter.

A more powerful engine, a few minor alterations, and the Berliners expect to have a machine to carry them any place under all conditions. Landing places on roofs and small open spaces will permit the operating of the helicopter in everyday use.

The body of the helicopter is somewhat similar to an airplane. In the front on either side are the lifting propellers, 14 feet long. These operate in opposite directions and are driven by means of a revolving motor in front of the driver's seat. The forward motion is accomplished by means of a small tilting propeller in the rear of the fuselage.

If the tilting propeller is inclined to an angle of 15 degrees there is a loss in lifting power of a little less than three per cent. This, however, gives a horizontal push of 25 per cent of the lifting power. The engine is 110 horsepower.

SEND UP BALLOON TO DETERMINE WEATHER

Twice daily the United States weather bureau sends up rubber balloons filled with hydrogen gas 13 times lighter than air, as a means of determining weather conditions. One minute after the balloon is released, readings are taken by means of a theodolite and repeated at minute intervals until the balloon is lost from view. This procedure takes place at 32 other stations throughout the United States and the readings are telegraphed to the Washington office, the navy broadcasting the consolidated report by radio. Photograph shows Nelson Ross, William C. Haines, sending up the balloon as their daily routine.

WORLD'S GREATEST OAK TREE

Can Shelter 7,000 Soldiers Under Its Branches.

The tree that impressed Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman more than all others he had seen during his years of travels was the famous oak at Chico, Cal., which is, according to the American Forestry association, the largest oak tree in the world.

This tree is more than 100 feet high, and has a circumference of 24 1/2 feet at a point 8 feet above the ground. The longest branch of the tree is 105 feet, and the branch spread from north to south is 200 feet. The greatest circumference of the branches is 450 feet.

General Sherman estimated that it would be possible for him to station 7,000 soldiers beneath the shade of this giant tree at high noon.

We know a man who is an honest crook. That is, he is a crook and frankly proud of it. As a crook he rather excels. He invents crooked things, while others follow the rules. But the point is, he is a crook, says so himself and does not blush. We also know a deacon who plays poker on Thursday, gets drunk on Friday, bowls out his family on Saturday and goes to church three times on Sunday. Between the two, we have our choice.

When to Go Home.

Mr. Meek and his wife had just settled themselves in their seats at the "movie" when three large, burly women took seats in front of them, cutting off their view of the screen. "If you had the soul of a worm," declared Mrs. Meek angrily to her spouse, "you'd do something." "Hush, my dear," replied Mr. Meek. "There's one thing anyway—when everybody gets up, we'll know it is time to go home."—From the American Legion Weekly.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS IN OVERALLS

These officers and clerks of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad are doing duty as shopmen and car cleaners during the strike of the shopmen. The photograph was made in the Chicago yards, where the "workmen" are shown eating in a Pullman diner their "three squares" a day from a bill of fare fit for a king.

COLONIALS HAVE STRONG OPPONENTS

In Week End Games—Amsterdam K. of C. Here Saturday And Kennedy All Stars Sunday—Saturday's Contest Begins At 1:30.

Tomorrow's visitors at the Fair Grounds will be the Amsterdam K. of C. team, one of the strongest of the up state clubs. Although defeated by the Colonials when they played here before, the Carpet City Knights made a good impression on local fans by their fine work, and tomorrow's game should prove a touch one. Miner Dietz, well known to Kingston fans, will probably do the hurling for the up-staters.

In bringing the Kennedy All Stars here Sunday Manager Brown has succeeded in booking a team rated among the highest of the metropolitan district semi-pros. The Yonkers club has been meeting with great success in its games around New York where practically all of its contests have been played. Eddie Campion, former pitcher for the Schatz club, is a member of the Yonkers team.

PARKED BUSES ON BROADWAY

Merchants Object To Practice Of Parking In Front Of Central Bus Terminal—Council Lays Question Over To Next Month's Meeting—Other Matters.

All of the merchants on Broadway between the West Shore railroad crossing and Cedar street on the side on which the bus terminal is located have filed a petition with the common council asking that the parking of big busses there be prohibited and that the busses be made to park on some side street to be selected by the aldermen and only draw up to the terminal ten minutes before leaving time.

The petition had been laid over until the special hearing Thursday night when Alderman Beichert again brought up the matter and offered a resolution that the corporation council be instructed to draw up the necessary ordinance complying with the request of the merchants on that side of Broadway.

Several of the bus owners were present and objected to the ten minute delay given stating that it was not a long enough period. They also called attention to the fact that the Day Line steamers were sometimes an hour late and that the busses waited until the passengers were able to get uptown to the terminal before leaving. Due to the railroad strike trains were also late and caused a further delay on the part of the busses who were operating to accommodate the public.

After discussing the matter thoroughly the council adopted Alderman Martin's motion that the matter be laid over until the next regular meeting. In the meantime all bus owners should file with the city clerk a schedule of their leaving and arriving time.

Alderman Martin also amended the ordinance covering public auctions extending the closing time to 10 o'clock in the evening instead of at sundown as at present. The amended ordinance was adopted.

The council then adjourned.
